This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. Connecticut State Library

HARTFORD, December 27, 1904.

To His Excellency
ABIRAM CHAMBERLAIN,
Governor.

Sir: I have the honor to submit herewith my report as State Librarian of Connecticut for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1904. In the preparation of this report I have aimed to make it a book of practical use as well as a report upon the life and progress of the Connecticut State Library for the period covered.

Encouraged by the reception accorded to my report for 1901-1902, which among other things contained a working catalogue of the law section, and by the fact that the edition of that report was by no means large enough to meet the requests for it, I have included this same feature again, making it to include all books in these lines received at the library up to and including December 27, 1904, even though this may make the report a few days overdue.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. S. GODARD,
State Librarian.

INTRODUCTION

IT is a pleasure to be able to report continued progress in the several departments of the library. The several lines of work undertaken four years ago are being continued along standard lines. Although much has been accomplished, there remains a great deal more to be done, and while the work has been hurried, it has not been rushed. Thoughtfulness, correctness, and neatness are not being sacrificed for speed. Moreover, the Connecticut State Library is being recognized by the several departments in the Capitol and the people of the state as an institution in which they have a personal interest and to which they have a personal welcome. Already many official and semi-official documents and publications which have heretofore been carefully hoarded as family heirlooms have been placed in the State Library where they form additional links in the chain of documents and publications which we already had. As the several towns and counties of Connecticut are represented in our General Assembly, so they are also coming to be fittingly represented upon the shelves of our State Library.

PRINTED CATALOG CARDS

In cataloging the library advantage has been taken of securing such printed catalog cards as have been published by the Library of Congress, the Superintendent of Documents, the Department of Agriculture, and the Publishing Section of the American Library Association as are suited to our needs.

INDEX TO STATE ARCHIVES

The growing interest in historical, genealogical, and legislative research has resulted in ever increasing demands being made upon our volumes of archives. While each of the one hundred and twenty-two volumes of manuscripts has an index, it requires the handling and consulting of each volume in turn which results in much wear upon the volumes and loss of time for the investigator. To minimize this wear upon the volumes and loss of time, a card index based upon the present indexes with cross references is being prepared as time permits. Thus far cards covering the ten volumes of Towns and Lands have been made.

These volumes of about forty thousand documents — and mostly before 1790 — are arranged as follows:

1. Civil Officers, etc. 1669-1754. 3 volumes.
2. College and Schools. 1661-1789. 2 volumes.
3. Colonial Boundaries. 1662-1827. 3 volumes.
4. Court Papers. 1696-1705. 1 volume.
5. Crimes and Misdemeanors. 1663-1788. 6 volumes.
6. Ecclesiastical. 1659-1789. 15 volumes.
7. Finance and Currency. 1677-1789. 5 volumes.
8. Finances. 1709-1752. 2 volumes.
9. Foreign Correspondence. 1661-1748. 2 volumes.
10. Indians. 1647-1789. 2 volumes.
11. Industry. 1708-1789. 2 volumes.
12. Insolvent Debtors. 1762-1787. 1 volume.
13. Lotteries and Divorces. 1755-1789. 1 volume.
14. Militia. 1678-1757. 5 volumes.
15. Miscellaneous. 1662-1789. 3 volumes.
16. Private Controversies. 1642-1716. 6 volumes.
17. Revolutionary War. 1763-1789. 37 volumes.
18. Susquehanna Settlers. 1775-1796. 1 volume.
19. Towns and Lands. 1629-1790. 10 volumes.
20. Trade and Maritime Affairs. 1668-1789. 2 volumes.
21. Travel. 1670-1788. 3 volumes.
22. War. 1675-1774. 10 volumes.

PRESERVATION OF RECORDS

Nearly all of the French and Indian War Rolls and Lists now in the Connecticut State Library came from the old Seymour house on Governor Street in this city. They were purchased, with other papers, by the State Library from the late Sherman W. Adams, who had secured them from the second-hand dealer who had gathered these valuable records with other "truck" when that house passed out of the possession of the Seymour family. The list of names in these Rolls and Lists — which ought some time to be published complete with their several endorsements — and the more important data in connection with the same as found upon these several documents have been published in Volumes 9 and 10 of the Connecticut Historical Society Collections, published in 1903 and 1904 respectively, under an act approved April 19, 1893, entitled "An Act making an Annual Appropriation in Favor of The Connecticut Historical Society," Section 1 of which reads as follows:

"The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby annually appropriated to The Connecticut Historical Society, for the purpose of enabling said society to classify and catalogue its collection of printed and manuscript material now inaccessible to the general public; to bind and arrange the same in a suitable and convenient manner; to mount, frame, or otherwise suitably prepare its portraits, plates, engravings, lithographs, sketches, maps, surveys, etc.; to properly arrange for permanent exhibition its collection of articles in its museum and archæological department; to publish its rolls of soldiers in the revolutionary and colonial wars not heretofore printed; and to do such other work as shall be necessary in order to preserve such documentary and other historical matter in its possession as is in a perishable condition and is intended for the use and benefit of the public in general." — Public Acts, 1893, Chap. lxiv.

Provision was made by the General Assembly of 1903 whereby the State Library has been enabled to have many of the loose and worn Connecticut military records and papers properly cared for.

The following Rolls and Lists have been treated by the Emery or silk process and substantially bound by the Emery Record Preserving Company of Taunton, Mass.; viz:

French and Indian War,	1755	31 items
	1756	36 items
	1757	24 items
	1758	48 items
	1759	57 items
	1760	18 items
Revolutionary War.	Accounts of Half-Day Trainings, 1774-1775 75 documents
	Accounts of Lexington Alarm, April, 1775 87 documents
	Accounts of Troops about Boston, May to December, 1775 53 documents

The above records, together with those in the office of the Secretary of State which have received attention, are a credit both to Connecticut and to the company which did the work. Records which have heretofore been inaccessible because of their condition may now be easily and safely consulted. It should be the policy of the State to restore and preserve regularly from year to year a portion of its now disappearing records.

PLANS OF STATE CAPITOL

Through the generosity of the heirs of Mr. R. M. Upjohn of New York, the architect of our Capitol building, we have secured a large number of sketches, drawings, elevations, and detail plans showing the various steps in the evolution of this beautiful building. During his last visit to Hartford, in 1902, Mr. Upjohn expressed his great pleasure at the changes made in the library equipment, and upon suggestion readily consented to donate to the library all the plans, sketches, etc., relating to the Capitol in his possession. After his death, upon being advised as to their father's promise, his heirs forwarded, with their compliments, such material as was then available, with the assurance that as other material came to light it would be added. Of necessity these plans are much worn and in many cases are in poor condition. Showing, however, as they do the evolution and construction of our Capitol building, provision should be made to have them properly preserved and thus made available for reference.

VITAL STATISTICS

In order that the contents of the cards now in the custody of the State Library showing the births, marriages, and deaths in Connecticut may be more easily accessible, Dr. Lindsley, Secretary of our State Board of Health, has arranged for the compiling of a "Bride Index," covering the marriages back to July 1, 1897, when the present card system began. The index for 1903 has been completed. Heretofore, it has been impossible to locate a bride by her maiden name. He has also decided to rearrange the birth cards for each year in one alphabet instead of one hundred and sixty-eight — one for each town — as at present. The same arrangement will also be made in the cards covering marriages and deaths.

REPORTS OF LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE HEARINGS

The ever increasing amount of work which is being placed upon our General Assembly from year to year is making it more and more necessary to delegate to the several committees of that body the responsibility of investigating the several bills presented and report the same, recommending definite lines of action. The reports of these committee hearings are, therefore, most important and where the hearings are reported by a regularly appointed stenographer, paid by the State, and copies of the same made, one copy — and that not a carbon duplicate — should be provided for the State Library. All persons who have either in their possession or at their disposal copies of such reports of committee hearings as we now lack are urged to assist in completing our series of these most valuable records.

I have succeeded in securing the following stenographers' reports of such committee hearings which I have had arranged, indexed, and substantially bound, viz:

Appropriation Committee, 1889, 1893, 1899, 1901, and 1903.
Cities and Boroughs, 1901.
Constitutional Amendments, 1901 and 1903.
Finance, 1899 and 1901.
Judiciary, 1903.
Railroads, 1901 and 1903.

TOWN REPORTS

Special effort has been made to collect complete sets of the official reports of the one hundred and sixty-eight towns of the state and of our several cities and boroughs. In many towns there is not a single complete file accessible. These reports, like daily papers, are generally considered as of passing interest only and, costing nothing, they soon disappear.

As it is very desirable that there should be a complete file of these reports accessible to the people of the state for reference, it is hoped that all who have any town reports will contribute towards completing the set here in the State Library.

The following is a list of the reports of the several towns in the library September 30, 1904:

Andover. — Town Reports, 1877, 1880-1883, 1885, 1890, 1891, 1893-1901.

CONNECTICUT BIBLIOGRAPHY

It is a pleasure to be able to report the progress now being made in the gathering together of the material for a bibliography of Connecticut.

The rapid increase in the growth and use of the public libraries of our own state, the sister states, and the libraries of Europe has created a great demand for Connecticut items. The sons and daughters of old Connecticut who are now found in every part of the globe, as well as here at home, are desiring to know more concerning the history of the state and themselves. Such study requires not only a knowledge of what has been written along these lines, but also where the same may be found. What has been written, and by whom? What has been printed, and by whom? When and where were they printed? are the questions now asked and which no one can answer with certainty.

At the meeting of the Connecticut Library Association held in Derby last February a permanent committee on Connecticut bibliography was appointed and plans made to ask the librarians and others interested throughout the state to join hands in taking an inventory of what had been printed along the following lines:

1. All printed works relating entirely to Connecticut and its subdivisions, industries, and institutions, including the official publications of the same, and all books printed in Connecticut to 1800.

2. Printed works containing important references to Connecticut.

3. Genealogies of Connecticut families living in the State before 1800.

4. Printed biographies of Connecticut men and women.

5. Newspapers and periodicals published in Connecticut.

6. Maps relating to Connecticut and its subdivisions.

7. Occasional sermons and addresses dealing with Connecticut history.

8. Pictures of important persons and events in the history of Connecticut.

9. Location of important manuscript material relating to Connecticut.

In order that this material collected from so many sources and by so many individuals may have permanent and practical value, the work must be done according to a common standard. Therefore, the committee having this work in hand prepared a standard card to be used for all items. In filling out these cards, the following directions are to be followed:

1. Follow the title page as printed.

2. Give author's name as it appears on the title page.

3. Anonymous works should appear under the title as printed on the title page.

4. Note date of copyright, as all editions should be noted. State if a Connecticut copyright.

5. Books with pictures should be noted as illustrated.

6. All maps, pictures, charts, etc., which are not paged as part of the text should be noted and number stated.

It is expected that each librarian will emphasize the lists relating to his own town and county, giving special emphasis to the publications of his town, its church societies, etc., as many of these items do not get into general circulation.

Special notes concerning rare books, pamphlets, or local items are especially invited, but always on the back of the card or cards.

These cards are to be deposited here at the State Library, where they will be arranged and may be consulted until such time as they may be edited and the result embodied in a just and accurate bibliography of Connecticut.

The libraries of the State have been divided into the following districts, to be under the supervision of the following libraries:

HARTFORD COUNTY: State Library, Hartford, which is also to cover State publications, George S. Godard, librarian.

YALE UNIVERSITY AND NEW HAVEN: Yale University Library, Franklin B. Dexter, assistant librarian.

NEW LONDON, WINDHAM, AND TOLLAND COUNTIES: Otis Free Library, Norwich, Jonathan Trumbull, librarian.

NEW HAVEN COUNTY: Blackstone Memorial Library, Branford, H. M. Whitney, librarian.

FAIRFIELD COUNTY: Pequot Library, Southport, Miss Josephine Heydrick, librarian.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY: Wesleyan University Library, Middletown, W. J. James, librarian.

LITCHFIELD COUNTY: Norfolk Library, Norfolk, H. H. Bridgman, Esq.

Each librarian is urgently requested to coöperate in this work, applying to the librarian of the library in charge of that district to answer questions and to furnish the necessary cards.

The following committee have the work in charge: Jonathan Trumbull, Chairman, Norwich; George S. Godard, Secretary, Hartford; H. M. Whitney, Branford; Franklin B. Dexter, New Haven; W. J. James, Middletown; W. K. Stetson, New Haven; Frank B. Gay, Hartford; Rev. W. H. Holman, Southport; Miss Helen Sperry, Waterbury; W. N. C. Carlton, Hartford; James Terry, Hartford; H. H. Bridgman, Norfolk.

The Blackstone Memorial Library, the Otis Free Library, and the New York Public Library have given the work a generous start.

LIST OF STATE PUBLICATIONS

The official publications of the State of Connecticut may be divided into four main groups, viz:

1st. Those that are published by direction of the Governor — Messages and Proclamations.

2d. Those published by direction of the Supreme Court or Judges — Connecticut Supreme Court Reports, Practice Act, Rules of Court, etc.

3d. Those published by the General Assembly — Senate Journals, House Journals, Public Acts (regular and cheap edition), Special Acts, Printed Bills, Engrossed Bills, Manual and Roll, Daily Calendar, Daily Bulletin, Special Reports of Committees, Revised Statutes, and miscellaneous items.

4th. Those published by the several departments, commissions, and institutions of the state to be submitted to the Governor and General Assembly, or in connection with the business of the several offices.

Beginning with the reports for 1900, as a matter of convenience and in order that the comparative age of the several departments might be seen at a glance, the Comptroller gave the reports of the several departments a document number, which number was determined by the chronological order of the appearance of its first printed report among the current printed reports of the State.

The following is the chronological order and document number of the reports now current:

ARRANGEMENT OF THE "CONNECTICUT PUBLIC DOCUMENTS"

In order that each department report of the State of Connecticut for a series of years may be quickly located in the bound volumes of public documents, the Comptroller has also given each report a binding number, by which its position in the bound volumes is permanently established, thus enabling each report to be found in the same position and volume from year to year.

That these several reports may be placed in the libraries of our several exchanges as soon as possible after publication, he has provided that the State Librarian shall be supplied with two hundred sets bound in volumes of convenient size, each volume to be bound and labeled in harmony with the regular set and sent out as soon as possible after the printing of the reports belonging therein. This arrangement began with the reports for 1902. These sets were bound in buckram.

The following is the plan of arrangement of the several

EXCHANGES AND DEPOSITORIES

The exchange of official publications between the several states and the federal government, which in early times included only the laws, has in recent years generally included not only the laws and Supreme Court reports but also the separate or special reports made by State officers and boards. When a library has once been placed upon our list, special effort is made to keep the sets complete thereafter.

The following is a list of the libraries to which this library sends the publications of Connecticut. The number preceding each library not only designates the chronological order in which that library was placed upon the list, but also the number in our letter-file under which all correspondence concerning that library is placed. There are four classes of libraries: 1. Governmental, to which everything is sent. 2. Public, to which everything except the law reports is sent. 3. Bar and special law libraries, to which only the laws are sent. 4. Patriotic societies and special historical libraries which receive only the historical publications.

Numbers 1-100 are reserved for the first class, 101-300 for the second class, 301-400 for the third class, and 401-600 for the fourth.

BINDINGS.

In a reference library where so many volumes are in sheep binding and the books have been in use for a long term of years the bindings are constantly being broken through use or crumbling from lack of use. While 980 volumes have been bound in Morocco or buckram during the past two years, those only were bound which demanded immediate attention or were being bound for the first time, having been received unbound or in parts. There are, however, several series of Supreme Court Reports in which a portion of the volumes need rebinding at once.

SUPREME COURT RECORDS AND BRIEFS

Probably there is no division of our law library more valued by attorneys than that devoted to the Records and Briefs of cases before our own Supreme Court of Errors. It was not until 1899, however, that provision was made by the General Assembly for providing the several law libraries of the State regularly with the complete Records and Briefs of Cases before the Supreme Court. Since 1899 they have been received from the Reporter nicely arranged, indexed, and bound.

Through the courtesy of the several clerks of the Superior Court where the Supreme Court has been accustomed to sit the State Library secured a fairly complete set back to 1881. Through the favor and assistance of some of the clerks and attorneys interested in the several cases of earlier days, the library has collected a large number of these early Records and Briefs — but by no means anywhere near complete — which have been alphabetically arranged in pamphlet boxes to correspond to the collection of cases bound in the several volumes of Connecticut Reports. Thus these Records and Briefs become accessible for use as soon as received by the library although not yet bound in volumes. When the Records and Briefs for the cases found in any volume of the Connecticut Reports have been secured they will be alphabetically arranged and substantially bound in volumes of convenient size. Each volume will bear the number of the said volume of Connecticut Reports, and also a label showing what part of the alphabet is contained therein. With such an arrangement it will be necessary to remember simply the name of the case wanted and the volume of Connecticut Reports in which it is found. District and terms may be disregarded.

It is urgently hoped that all who have any Records and Briefs which they are willing to spare will send them to the Connecticut State Library, no matter how few or how many in number nor in what condition. Such contributions are needed, as duplicates can be utilized in connection with the other libraries of the State.

ATTENDANCE

The following shows the work of the Connecticut State Library by months during the past two years. Each reader used from one volume to several dozen volumes at a visit. "Books Loaned" were for use in the Supreme Court and the several departments in the building. The daily stream of visitors and sightseers who come to the library have been disregarded in this summary.

Attendance and loan of books for the two years ended September 30, 1904:

NEW LIBRARY BUILDING

The growth and development of State libraries in the United States has been largely influenced and governed by the growth and development of the several departments of state, including State inspection and State supervision. In the early years of our country the State library was usually an aggregation of books which had accumulated in the office of the Secretary of State. As the State extended its fields of activity in administration and supervision, naturally the aggregation of books increased so that it was found necessary — if the books were to be of service — to place them by themselves under the immediate supervision of a librarian. This creation of a regular State Library in Connecticut was found necessary in 1854, just fifty years ago, when the General Assembly provided for the appointment of a State Librarian who was given the custody of the miscellaneous collection of books which had accumulated in the office of our Secretary of State.

As our several States have no common standard either of area, population, industries, or wealth, so their several State libraries have no common standard, but each is called upon to face the everchanging problems peculiar to its own surroundings. Thus we find a great difference between the evergrowing and everexpanding university plan and life of the New York State Library and the State libraries of the several sister states. There may be found all degrees of development from the highly organized system in New York to the mere aggregation of books appended to the office of the Secretary of State, which still exists in a few of the states. But however much they may vary in their fields of work there are two functions which are considered essential to every State library; viz., Whatever pertains to the science of government for the aid of those who are to administer government, and whatever illustrates the history, character, resources, and development of that particular state or section.

To intelligently administer government requires a clear statement of what government is, and what the powers or functions of government are has been and will be determined by each age for itself. As history which is based upon the same facts is read and written by each generation and interpreted from its own point of view and in the light of its own civilization, so constitutions are made and interpreted and the affairs of state administered in the light of the ever present today. Thus what the interpretation of our Federal Constitution has been, we know; what it is, we are discerning; but what it will be, we may prophesy but we cannot determine. So the work of interpretation and action is being enacted not only in the federal halls of legislation and in our own, but also in the several states of our Union, and each largely along its own lines. Therefore, when we consider the everincreasing fields of activity in government and State administration and State supervision of industrial affairs, and appreciate the vast amount of "literature" that is of necessity being printed by all the several departments throughout our land and sent to the several State libraries, we ought not to expect that the library rooms of 1854 will be large enough for 1879 — the year we came to the new Capitol — nor ought we to expect the quarters of 1879 to meet the requirements of 1904, a quarter of a century later. Only a glance at the list of our own State publications on pages 21 and 22 of this report is necessary to show the rapidity in which our State has grown along its several lines during this last half-century.

Moreover, a glance at the more recent government publications to be found in the several State libraries shows that they are not confined to the mere statement of routine business of their own offices, but they are often classics in their several lines. In many instances these publications represent long years of preparation. This is especially true of books published by the United States government, which are beginning to be appreciated.

While Connecticut has been pushing forward in the number of her official publications — legal and departmental — the other states have been doing the same and many of them more so, so that it is no longer feasible for small libraries to attempt to keep up, and the State Library finds itself placed between this sea of official publications and the individual. The official courtesy between the states has required that each State send its several official publications to the others for the use of the people of said sister states and for the use of its own citizens who may be in that section. So we find our several State libraries are along certain lines maintained by exchange. One of the duties of the Connecticut State Library is to see that every library upon our exchange list receives the official publications of Connecticut regularly and promptly.

While the official publications of the United States and the several states have been increasing, those items dealing with the history, character, resources, and development of our own State have appeared with astonishing rapidity.

Since this aggregation of books, records, etc., here at the Capitol are the sources from which many of the books of tomorrow are to come, provision for the proper care of them and the proper accommodation for those engaged in the study and research should be made. As already stated in my report for last year, as at present arranged the books of the State Library are in three rooms, and while arranged in order are not as accessible as they ought to be, being on different floors from the main library room. And the library room, although large, beautiful, and conveniently arranged, is of necessity more or less noisy and has no rooms or apartments to which one may retire for study and work; neither has it any large vaults such as a library of this character needs. If the State Library is to remain in its present quarters additional shelving will soon have to be provided in the main room and in the other rooms used in connection with the library. It has been my thought and hope that some provision might be made in the near future whereby all the books of the library could be brought together, where regularly constructed vaults might be accessible, and where rooms or special apartments for study could be provided. But to get a room more beautiful and more conveniently arranged than is the present one is not to be expected.

CONCLUSION.

I cannot bring this report to a close without expressing my thanks to the several officials in the Capitol and to the large number of friends I have found in all parts of the State, who by their personal efforts and interest in the State Library have made so much of our work a pleasure which might easily have been a burden. Our thanks are also due to our Senators and Representatives in Congress, who have furnished many items of value and been ever ready to render any assistance needed from them. While much has been accomplished there is much more to be done.

APPENDIX I

LIST OF LAW REPORTS, DIGESTS, AND STATUTES IN THE CONNECTICUT STATE LIBRARY, DECEMBER 20, 1904

For the convenience of those interested, the following list of American, English, Irish, Scotch, Canadian, Australian, and Indian reports in the library, together with our latest digests, statutes, and subsequent session laws in each group, is here appended. This list shows the resources of the Connecticut State Library upon the current law of the several states, provinces, and countries above mentioned. It includes all books of this department received prior to December 20, 1904. In some later publication a list of the earlier statutes and session laws of the above groups possessed by the library will be given. Current sets are marked +.

N. B. The dates given are intended to cover the period covered by the several publications rather than date of publication.

APPENDIX II

AUTHOR AND SUBJECT INDEX.

The following is an abridged catalogue of the several dictionaries, encyclopædias, legal treatises, and legal periodicals accessible in the Connecticut State Library October 1, 1903. Effort has been made to have each book appear under the name of its author and in connection with its principal subject. Both authors and subjects are arranged alphabetically in one alphabet. The work of cataloguing our government publications has not progressed far enough to warrant an attempt to include in this index various publications from that source.
